Remove Tough Stains In Slip Resistant Bathtubs

In recent years manufacturers have been required to equip bathtubs with a slip resistant bottom to protect users from injury. Obviously, this type of safety measure makes a lot of sense and we applaud the effort. The problem many home owners face, is that slip resistant strips get dirty and are difficult to clean.

To the left is a picture of a bathtub with grimy, slip resistant strips. Many of us are all too familiar with this type of dirt in tubs and shower stalls. It happens in metal, cast iron and fiberglass tubs and shower pans.

We found the solution to take care of those dirty bathroom fixtures. As recommended by the Kohler Company, a product called Express R.O.G.3 Tub and Tile Cleaner does the trick to make stains disappear in your tub.

This R.O.G product is not sold locally and must be purchased through their website at www.rog3.com or call them at 1-800-585-2325 and costs about $40.

Remember to use this product as suggested by the manufacturer, and test a small area before applying to the entire tub. Let us know about your results, and feel free to send pictures so we can archive the results.
